(New) relationship with the environment → How can we make natural elements an integral part of our cultural heritage (also in order to promote sustainable development)?

Faro Convention art. 8

Past vs present → How can we understand and value this complex relationship?

There are «sensitive» periods in European history → How can we help citizens «face» these problematic times of our past in order to foster dialogue and peace?

Faro Convention artt. 3.b and 7.c

Too many citizens seem to perceive cultural heritage as something standing «outside» and «above» them → they feel they have little right to express their views on the subject → there should be «somebody» (?public authorities?) to teach them about cultural heritage and take (better) care of it

How can we help citizens understand that it is both their right and responsibility to be involved in defining, promoting and preserving cultural heritage?

What is the role of cultural institutions?

What about a European Cultural Heritage?

Faro Convention

Preamble: «[...] one of the aims of the Council of Europe is to achieve greater unity between its members for the purpose of safeguarding and fostering the ideals and principles, founded upon respect for human rights, democracy and the rule of law, which are their common heritage»

All our citizens value cultural heritage!

Art. 7.c: «The parties undertake to [...] develop knowledge of cultural heritage as a resource to facilitate peaceful co-existence by promoting trust and mutual understanding with a view to resolution and prevention of conflicts»
